ACCOMMODATION

The cottage, a listed building has been sensitively refurbished to a high specification and retains many characterful features including a slate floor, beams and wood panelling. The owners have taken the opportunity to build in the modern comforts you would want on a holiday, making it home from home.

The cottage is ideal for three people (but can accommodate four) and is suitable for families with two children.

Downstairs is open-plan comprising a new stylish kitchen, sitting and dining area. There is a wood burning stove set in a traditional Cornish fireplace creating a warm and relaxed atmosphere. Guests will enjoy comfortable seating and entertainment includes TV and DVD along with magazines, DVD's, books, board games and a hi-fi.

The kitchen has a dishwasher, hob and oven, microwave, Belfast style sink and fridge freezer.

The sitting area has views to the front courtyard which contains a glorious hydrangea and the rear patio door leads on to a safe and secluded garden with views down to the sea from the end of the garden.

There is a wooden staircase leading from downstairs to a first floor landing with a window overlooking the garden and the rural countryside. Off the landing, there are two bedrooms and a new contemporary bathroom with heated towel rail. Upstairs is fitted with new carpets and downstairs has an original slate flagstone floor with under floor heating. There are also panel heaters throughout.

The master double bedroom overlooks the front courtyard and lawn. The room is painted white with an inbuilt wardrobe. The chest of drawers and bedside tables are painted in delphinium blue, with matching Cath Kidston bed linen. The second bedroom is furnished with a single bed with a guest bed underneath. A travel cot is also supplied for babies and toddlers. All rooms have been tastefully furnished to a high standard, making the cottage a relaxing and cosy place to spend your holiday.

The courtyard is framed by two original sixteenth century small barns with a white lych gate in the middle. The back garden is full of plants and flowers.

There is an elm wooden table and bench. Sun loungers are available. A barbecue is also provided for those warm summer evenings.

There is off road parking for one car.

CRACKINGTON HAVEN

Crackington Haven is a delightful unspoilt cove nestling in the dramatic cliffs of the North Cornish Coast. There are National Trust footpaths which you can walk along through amazing scenery to nearby villages including Widemouth Bay and Bude. It provides the perfect spot for a family holiday with a sandy beach where surfing is possible and the rock pools at low tide provide a playground for children.

There are a host of things to do from horse riding to the full amenities and shops at Bude only 20 minutes away. Padstow with its many Rick Stein eateries is only half an hour away and there you can hire a bike and follow the Camel Trail. The moors are a twenty minute drive where you can stop off at the famous Jamaica Inn. The Eden project and the Lost Gardens of Heligan are both just under an hour.

The village of Higher Crackington Haven has a post office stores and down at the cove there are two beach café's and a pub where you can eat and drink overlooking the sea.
